

Mission Focused.
Legacy Inspired.
Community Driven.

Who We Are

DDC delivers leading IT, professional, and environmental services to advance the missions of federal, state, and tribal government agencies. As thought leaders and innovators, our team of specialists build client-centric solutions that solve critical challenges faced by defense, civilian, and healthcare organizations. Employing a mission-focused approach, we deliver value that not only enhances current operations, but also drives future change.

Closely aligned with this approach is our commitment to advancing the Navajo Nation and its People. Through economic development and community empowerment, we elevate the Navajo Nation to provide lasting impact and sustainable growth for future generations.

DDC's ability to unite modern technologies, industry best practices, and proven methodologies has contributed to our success for twenty years. Our legacy of excellence is reflected in our outstanding performance ratings and commendations, solidifying our reputation as a trusted client partner.

DDC Solution Accelerator

DDC is redefining mainframe migrations with a bold investment in generative AI. Our team is collaborating with a major 4th Estate agency to explore using large language model (LLM)-powered pipelines to convert millions of lines of legacy code and data structures.

By leveraging LLMs, we eliminate costly, proprietary code conversion tools, freeing legacy system customers from traditional vendor constraints. Our approach includes a unique Test-Driven Development (TDD) model, where each conversion is guided by AI-generated test cases.

This ensures code conversion accuracy, while stripping away unnecessary complexity and poor coding practices from the source. The result is efficient, maintainable code in modern languages, such as Java and Python, preserving mission-critical functionality and accelerating cloud readiness.

DDC's commitment to this innovative capability brings a fresh, value-driven alternative to the market, empowering customers to modernize with unmatched flexibility and control.
